

QUALITY POLICY STATEMENT

Libyan Petroleum Institute is committed to the continuous improvement of its process, services and product.

It is therefore our policy:-

- Consistently to provide exploration research activities, petroleum engineering activities, industrial research services, chemistry research services, testing services, information and technical maintenance services and metrology calibration services for petroleum industrial sectors.
- Deliver our services with high integrity and good professional practice without compromising quality standard while maintaining economical and cost effective services.
- Comply with ISO 9001:2000, ISO 17025:2005, standard test method and customer requirements at all time to ensure organization services and product consistently meets the expectation of the customer.
- Encourage active participant of all employees in quality planning and continuous improvement efforts to meet all quality service and cost objective.

General Manager

Quality Manager

Quality Objective

- To establish a regional testing laboratory, recognized internationally and nationally, with the reputation as being professional and progressive organization.
- To offer a more personal and flexible service to our client.
- To give our clients confidence in our ability to assist their quality demand in fast growing industries via a good laboratory quality system.
- To ensure all polices and procedure laid down in the Laboratory Quality System Manual are communicated to, understood and implemented by all laboratory personnel in their work.
- To continuously comply with the ISO/IEC 17025:2005 requirements at all times.

Strategy

- Our strategy shall be to combine efficiency with professional and cost effective services to companies of various sizes.
- By such services Libyan Petroleum Institute shall contribute towards the industrial expansion of Libya, as nation continues to develop into a major factor in the global market place.

General Manager

Quality Manager

